Stolen Song
documents the act
of cultural appropriation that
created a founding
moment for French
literary history: the rescripting and
domestication of
troubadour song, a
prestige corpus in

the European sphere, as French. This book also documents the simultaneous creation of an alternative point of origin for French literary history—a body of faux-archaic Occitanizing songs. Most scholars would find the claim that

french-songbook

troubadour poetry
is the origin of French literature
uncomplicated and
uncontroversial.
However, Stolen
Song shows that the
"Frenchness" of this tradition was
invented,
constructed, and
concocted by francophone
medieval poets and

compilers keen to
devise their own
literary history.
Stolen Song makes
a major contribution
to medieval studies
both by exposing
this act of cultural appropriation as the origin of the French
canon and by elaborating a new approach to questions of

political and cultural identity. Eliza Zingesser shows that these questions, usually addressed on the level of narrative and theme, can also be fruitfully approached through formal, linguistic, and manuscript-oriented tools. This traditional children's song

dates back to at least the late 1890's. It has been

Women who were sixty or older at the turn of the twenty-first century have lived through some of recent history's most momentous moments—and yet these women often believe that their personal lives and stories are insignificant, not worthy of being recorded for future generations. To change that perception and capture some of these life stories before they are lost, the Story Circle Network, a national organization

dedicated to helping women write about
their lives,
developed the Older
Women's Legacy
(OWL) Circle
Memoir Workshops.
During the first two years of the project (1998-2000), nearly 500 older women
participated in

workshops that offered them the opportunity and encouragement to reflect on and create written records of their lives. With Courage and Common Sense presents an extensive selection of memoirs from the OWL Circle project.

Organized thematically, they describe women's experiences of identity, place, work, family life, love and marriage, loss and healing, adventures great and small, major historical events, and legacies to keep and pass along. Taken as a whole, the memoirs chronicle far-reaching changes in the ways that women participated in the world during the twentieth century. They show how women learned to surmount obstacles, to courageously make the most of the opportunities that came their way, and to move quietly and wisely beyond the limits that were imposed upon them. This traditional folk song with English words by either Percy Montrose or Barker Bradford is set to the Spanish folk song Romance

These articles are mainly concerned with medieval French literature, particularly those areas in which the honorand of the volume, Rupert T. Pickens, has distinguished himself: Old French Arthurian romance, Marie de France, chanson de geste, later poetry (including Villon), and the Occitan troubadour lyric. Among the contributors are some of the most significant scholars from the U.S.A., Canada, France, Switzerland, and the U.K. working in Old French studies today. The volume will be of interest to specialists in Old French, Occitan, and medieval literature
