This clinical Series on neonatal intensive care presents the most up-to-date understanding and evidence on how best to resuscitate newborn infants; charts the evolution of modern respiratory care for preterm infants; and highlights the importance of nutrition for growth and neurodevelopmental outcomes. Preterm birth rates are rising despite efforts of prevention and the optimum care for vulnerable preterm infants has consequences not only for immediate survival but also for long-term outcomes.

As foetal and neonatal care has developed, pre-term birth is now more common and the survival rate of sick newborn babies continues to improve. The NHS England Long Term Plan aims to reduce stillbirths, maternal mortality and serious brain injury – see: NHS England Long Term Plan - Maternity and neonatal services. Actions identified by the Neonatal Critical Care review include expanding critical care services to improve the effectiveness and safety of service provision.
