Updated August 18, 2018 In a work of literature, the resolution is the part of the story's plot where the main problem is resolved or worked out. The resolution occurs after the falling action and is typically where the story ends. Another term for the resolution is "d\u00e9 nouement," which comes from the French term d\u00e9 nou\u00e9, meaning "to untie."

Resolution is generally found in Greek lyric poetry and in Greek and Roman drama, most frequently in comedy. It should not be confused with a bicops, which is a point in a meter which can equally be two shorts or a long, as is found in the dactylic hexameter. The bicops is freely able to be two shorts or a long, while resolution, particularly in tragedy, can only occur within very restricted situations.
