The "insurgents" of the title are a set of Army officers who developed an interest in counterinsurgency in the 1990s, when it was out of favor, having been sworn off after the failed attempt in

Vietnam and the adoption of the "Powell Doctrine" that the US would not go to war without going all-in.

Foremost among them are GEN David Petraeus and LTC John Nagl, but there were many others.
