Black bear are very hard to kill, and they are hard to track when wounded. Even a good heavy-caliber lung or heart shot may not keep the animal from getting off into the woods, and that same shot may not leave very much of a Bear Shamans can use the gifts of their bear claws to dig deep into a body to remove what does not belong. Bear Shamans have been known to be great healers of deep wounds, as well as being known for healing bones. There are also Bear Shamans who have claimed to have power over life and death, taking on the resurrection mythos of the Bear.

Apply a layer of antibiotic ointment over the wound or put on a water-proof plaster before you bath. After your bath you can clean your wound with sterile water and antiseptic solutions. If you do get tap water inside the wound, dry it immediately and apply some antiseptic solution over it to prevent any infection. 2. Protect The Newly Formed Skin
